U. S. Sabrejets Join Formosan Defense Force

Deadly Planes Fly Onto Island From Philippines, Okinawa

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)— Swift and deadly U.S. Sabrejets roared in from Okinawa and the Philippines today in a dramatic move that underscored U.S. determination to defend this Chinese Nationalist island its key outposts against any Communist invaion.

The Sabres, impressive victors over Russian-built MIGs in the Korean War, landed at a Nationalist air force base south of Taipeh.

The Sabres, from the U.S. 18th Fighter-Bomber Wing, will probably be used to screen the evacuation of the Red-threatened Tachen Islands 200 miles north of here.

And they would lend tremendous striking power to the U.S. 7th Fleet, now gathered in impressive array near here and ready for action if ordered.

Retreat Plans Complete

Operational plans for the evacuation of the Tachens appear to have been perfected. Should they be put into execution and meet Communist opposition, Formosa is the nearest territory in friendly hands from which land - based planes could support the fleet.

(A report from Singapore said the fleet itself apparently would be beefed up by the addition of the aircraft carrier Midway. The 45,000-ton flattop was due there Feb. 4 but U.S. Navy officials said she is now "heading north." Four other U.S. carriers, the Essex, Yorktown, Kearsarge and Wasp, are in Formosa waters with the fleet.)

In Taipeh, the best guess was that Chinese Nationalist naval forces would carry out the actual evacuation of the Tachens, screened and covered by the gathering U.S. air and sea power

18th Wing Moved

(The Far East Air Forces in Tokyo said the 18th Fighter-bomber Wing of F86 Sabrejets was moved to Formosa from Okinawa and the Philippines to provide "air power at any place needed."

(A wing normally consists of 75 planes.

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, FEAF commander in Tokyo, said Secretary of Defense Wilson ordered the transfer "to temporary duty bases in Formosa."

"Other FEAF offensive units are being redeployed to forward bases," Partridge added. He said the transfer "exemplifies the global capability of U.S. Air Force units to move at jet speeds to any trouble spot."

To Move 30,000

Signs mounted that the Nationalists would evacuate their 15,000 troops and 15,000 civilians from the two small Tachen Islands, which lie in an exposed position 20 miles north of Formosa and only 12 miles from the Communist China mainland.

Nationalist four-engine bombers flying out from Formosa in several waves last night and early today attacked Yikiangshan Island, eight miles north of the Tachens, official reports said.

Their targets apparently were Communist big guns which could harass an evacuation of the Tachens.

The reports said the bombers, flying through intense antiaircraft fire, set fire to several targets. All returned to base, the Nationalists said.

Railroad To Tear Up Side Tracks Here

Because dieselization and technological advances are making it possible to do a better job with less facilities, two sections of railroad track in the Salem area will be removed early in February, Pennsylvania Railroad officials announced today.

A storage track, two miles in length, about two miles north of Salem, will be taken up, along with a side track of a little more than a mile, just west of Leetonia.

With the savings in cost of maintaining these tracks, the railroad will be able to serve the public better at less cost, and be able to extend facilities and operations where they are needed, rail officials declared.

Serge Rubenstein Found Dead, Bound In New York Home

NEW YORK (AP)—Financier and draft dodger Serge Rubinstein was found dead today, bound and gagged, in his lavish Fifth Ave. mansion.

Clad in black pajamas, he was lying on his back in his third-floor bedroom.

The room had been ransacked. Drawers of a built-in wardrobe had been pulled out.

The bed had been slept in.

Police termed his death an "apparent homicide."

Actual cause of death was not determined immediately.

William Morter, a butler, discovered the body at 8:30 a.m. The hands and feet were tied with what appeared to be a venetian blind cord, the hands bound in front of the body.

"It was either murder or robbery," one policeman said after viewing the scene. "The place was turned upside down."

Rubinstein, 46, had been in and out of courts for years on charges of draft dodging, shady financial deals and deportation warrants. He was facing deportation action.

But the dapper, stocky financier continued to live a plush life, visiting expensive nightspots and furnishing his six-story mansion with works of art.

The former "boy wonder" of finance was convicted and imprisoned for World War II draft evasion.

The Russian-born financier lived lavishly in an apartment at 814 Fifth Ave., near 62nd St. He frequietly was seen at swank night spots despite his troubles with the government.

Rubinstein had a varied international background.

He grew up in Stockholm, Vienna, Paris and other European capitals.

He entered the United States in

MacArthur Calls For End To War, Return To Patriotism

LOS ANGELES (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, a soldier for more than half a century, gave the world today a ringing challenge to abolish war.

But in fierce championship of America he cried out that "seductive murmurs are arising that patriotism is outmoded," and he demanded:

"Listen not to these voices, be they from the one political party or from the other, from the high and mighty or the lowly and forgotten. Visit them with scorn. Repudiate them in the marketplace, on the platform or in the pulpit."

The conqueror of Japan and draftsman of its peace, who was recalled from his Far Eastern command in 1951, observed his 75th birthday anniversary in Los Angeles yesterday. With Mrs. MacArthur constantly by his side, he went through a tiring day of three speeches, adulation of the crowds and dedication of a statue of himself and monument in his honor at the city's MacArthur Park.

He flies back to New York today to resume his business life as board chairman of the Remington-Rand Corp.

In his speech last night at a civic banquet sponsored by the American Legion, he said:

"War has become a Frankenstein to destroy both sides. No longer is it the weapon of adventure whereby a short cut to international power and wealth - a place in the sun-can be gained. If you lose, you are annihilated. If you win, you stand only to lose."

He said war now contains "the germs of double suicide" and "the great question is, Does this mean that war can now be outlawed from the world? If so, it would mark the greatest advance in civilization since the Sermon on the Mount."

'Deep Freeze' Chills Nation

Mercury Falls To 30 Below In Minnesota

Bone-chilling cold gripped the Midwest today as icy blasts from Canada sent temperatures tumbling to more than 30 degrees below zero in Minnesota.

The entire north central region was in a deep freeze with the coldest weather of the winter season. Below zero readings were general throughout the area. The arctic air mass which moved southward over the Northern Plains and Great Lakes region headed eastward toward the northern Appalachians and New England.

Skies generally were clear over the frigid belt but snow was on the ground in most sections. Strong northwest winds, more than 20 m.p.h. in some places, intensified the cold.

Temperatures dropped from 5 to 29 degrees since yesterday and it was below zero southward to northern Missouri and central Illinois. In Bemidji, Minn., it was 31 below zero. In Chicago, temperatures dropped from a high of 23 yesterday to 8 below zero this morning.

Ohio Experiencing Coldest Weather

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio was experiencing the coldest weather of the winter season today, as a cold air mass swept across the state from the Northwest.

The weather bureau said the center of the cold air mass was over Iowa this morning and that it will move across Ohio toward the East Coast tonight, bringing more sub zero temperatures.

The weather bureau reported snow over most of the state, with two inches recorded in Columbus and Cleveland, four at Youngstown and Akron, ad a trace at Cincinati.

Columbus had a low of three degrees this moring, Toledo had a low of zero, Dayton three degrees below, and three above at Cleveland. Cincinnati had 1.5 degrees above, coldest since Feb. 9, 1951.

The state highway patrol reported some highways slippery in spots, but transportation facilities appeared to be normal throughout the state.

More snow is on the way for Ohio, according to forecasters. They reported another low pressure area now developing over southern Saskatchewan was expected to bring more snow to Ohio late Friday or Friday night.

Potters Union Chief Blasts Tariff Cut Bill

Officials Testify Before House, Cite Unemployment Danger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has been told that the American pottery worker would be "thrown on the scrap heap" if tariffs on foreign pottery were lowered further.

The statement was made yesterday by Frank Hull, president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters (AFL), before the House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee is hearing testimony on a bill to extend the Reciprocal Trade Act, with provisions to lower tariffs five per cent a year for three years. Hull asked:

"We ae wondering if the proponents of (the bill) are prepared to present to the American pottery worker . . . a program that will make up his pay deficiencies by 30 per cent and alleviate the distress our people are suffering from foreign competition."

Wage Patterns Fall

Wage patterns in the pottery industry, he said, have fallen behind the national average. As for the pottery worker, he said:

"His average age is 50 years. Were he given an opportunity in other industries, which is not the case, readjustment would be questionable.

"Therefore his only future prospect under the provisions of (the bill) is to swell the ranks of the unemployed."

W. C. Carpenter, vice president of the R. Thomas and Sons Co. of Lisbon, Ohio, also opposed the bill.

A spokesman for the management side of the pottery industry, Joseph M. Wells of Newell, W. Va., also objected strongly to the bill.

Speaking for the United States Potters Assn., Wells said:

Sees Trade Not Helped

"We have yet to read a statement by an exporting industry that their foreign business has been improved as the direct result of any concession made by a foreign country in a trade treaty with the United States.

"What we do hear from such industries is how much more difficult it is to do business abroad at present under the quotas, exchange control . . . established by foreign countries."

Wells said the argument that tariff reductions would supplement foreign aid grants and prevent communism does not stand up since "the Communist party in Western Europe is stronger today than it has ever been."

Snow Drifts Close Two Rural Schools

Two Columbiana County rural schools were closed today due to bad weather conditions and high rates of absenteeism were reported in others.

John "Dick" Neill, superintendent of the county garage, said drifting roads are worse in the level country in the north and west townships. Drifts as deep as five feet were reported in some sections and county trucks and snow plows worked throughout the night and today to keep highways passable.

Closed roads stalled Knox Local School buses and the 600 pupils were given a holiday.

At Negley School, 75 students were at home because of a heating system unable to supply sufficient warmth.

Sickness, combined with the winter weather, has kept 200 pupils at United Local School home. This week as many as 140 pupils have been ill with flu and colds, Principal Dale Gates reports.

Franklin Sturgeon, principal at Elkton School, said 50 students, 35 more than usual were absent from classes. At Wayne Local School 25 per cent of the student body failed to report today, although Principal E. E. Braid said there is little sickness.

The kindergarten at Lisbon was not held today because of a heating system failure.

Temperatures in Salem skidded down to a low of five below zero between 6 and 8 this morning. Twenty-one degrees above zero was the high temperature reported here since noon yesterday.

Columbiana Plant Destroyed By Fire

FIRE RAZES FACTORY—A blaze of undetermined origin caused damages estimated at $75,000 when it swept through the Mahoning Welding and Machine Co. near Columbiana this morning. Shown above is the main room of the factory. The second story floor above the room collapsed.

Loss Is $75,000; Origin Of Fire Not Determined

Mahoning Welding Co. Owner Will Erect New Structure

Fire of undetermined origin gutted the Mahoning Welding and Machine Co. near Columbiana early this morning causing a loss estimated at $75,000. The owner, A. E. Balker, who resides near the ruined plant, said part of the loss is covered by insurance.

The North Lima volunteer fire department responded to the first alarm turned in at 2:30 and summoned Columbiana firemen at 3:10.

Sub - zero temperatures and strong winds hindered the firemen, who were unable to save the structure.

Located on Route 164 in Beaver Township, one and one-half miles north of Columbiana, the plant employed 15 men. It consisted of a 40 by 72-foot two-story cement block building constructed three years ago and a 40 by 18-foot addition at the rear.

The company fabricated steel plant machinery. The loss included all the machinery and office equipment.

Balker, who lives just north of the burned out structure, said he could give no case for the fire, although he theorized that faulty wiring in an electric heater may have set off the blaze.

The fire was discovered at 2:20 a.m. by Mrs. Raymond Cole, who resides on the Mahoning - Columbiana County Line Road, about a quarter of a mile from the plant. She thought the burning structure was a barn on the Fred Dill farm, and telephoned there.

Dill could not contact Balker, who has an unlisted phone number, so he called Emerson Pine, whose home is north of the factory. Pine called Balker who summoned the North Lima firemen.

Dill and Pine rushed to the scene of the fire and drove a stake truck out of the burning building.

Balker said he probably would erect and equip a new plant.

Losing Candidate Attacks Lausche

Suggests Reading Him Out Of Party

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Robert W. Reider, a defeated Democrat candidate for Ohio secretary of state, suggested last night "reading Hanhart and Lausche out of the party" if necessary to win elections.

Eugene H. Hanhart of Dover is chairman of the party's state executive committee. He has often been referred as hand-picked by Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who was the only Democrat to win in last November's state election.

Reider, a 37-year-old Port Clinton publisher, told the Canton Democratic Women's Club the "really basic problem confronting Ohio Democrats is reorganization."

Cites Burke Defeat

He held that the defeat of Thomas A. Burke, Democrat who sought reelection as United States Senator, "cannot be blamed on anyone except Governor Lausche and Gene Hanhart. . . ."

". . . Their token campaign for the Democratic ticket," Reider continued, "was a farce so obvious that it was dropped completely during the last two weeks of the campaign and became only the same old Lausche campaign with which we are all familiar"

Burke, a longtime friend of Lausche, was appointed to the Senate following the death of Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft. Lausche backed Burke in the last election.

Reider said he would "no longer accept a man who takes the label on the ballot but none of the responsibilities of a Democratic candidate.

Sees No Organization

"I am satisfied that we will continue to lose campaigns on the state level so long as there is no state organization. If that means reading Hanhart and Lausche out of the party, then let us do so. . ."

His speech was interrupted by applause four times and the loudest applause came after the "reading out" suggestion.

The Democratic "state organization as such is extinct," Reider added. "Had it raised one small degree of effort for Tom Burke, the people would not have to cringe whenever anyone mentions the senators from Ohio."

Burke lost to Republican George H. Bender by some 3,000 votes. The other senator from Ohio is John W. Bricker, also a Republican.

Few Senators Seek Curbs On Formosa Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) said at the White House today President Eisenhower certainly does not believe his fight-for-Formosa resolution carries authorization to wage preventive war.

A small but determined band of Senate critics has raised a cry that the resolution is so broad as to do that. They are battling to restrict its terms.

Knowland fough back against that interpretation in Senate debate yesterday and, before the Senate reconvened today, paid a visit to the White House.

On leaving, Knowland told reporters the purpose of his visit was to bring the President up to date on the Senate debate.

In reply to a question, Knowland said they had discussed the argument by Senate critics that the resolution would authorize preventive war against Communist China. He added:

"There certainly is no question in the President's mind that the resolution is no such thing"—that is, an authorization for preventive war.

"By no stretch of the imagination" does the resolution open the way to preventive war, Knowland said.

Knowland was asked whether security considerations barred clarification of the resolution to counter that argument.

"Certainly you don't normally telegraph your punches to a potential attacker," he replied.

He added that the resolution, "as the President pointed out" in his message to Congress, "is one which we believe will contribute to peace in the Pacific and to stabilization of conditons."

"Unless the Chinese Communists attack our planes and ships on their mission, there will be no hooting as far as the United States is concerned," Knowland said.

"I don't believe any American would expect our planes and ships to sit there like sitting ducks and not return fire. Obviously they would not do that."

Knowland predicted the resolution will be overwhelmingly approved by the Senate "without amendment," and said he is hope-

Ike To Remain Close To Capital

Decision Made Due To Formosa Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has decided, partly because of the Formosa situation, to restrict his travel for two or three months to trips of no more than two hours flying time from Washington.

In announcing the decision late yesterday, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen "it would be foolish for me to say" the threat of a Chinese Communist invasion of Formosa was not a contributing factor.

"But I want it specifically understood, this is not an emergency measure," Hagerty said.

In Touth With Congress

He said the primary reason is that the President wants to keep in close touch with Congress in an effort to win enactment of as much of the administration's legislative program as possible.

Meanwhile, the White House announced several changes in the President's personal staff.

Eisenhower accepted the resignation of Thomas E Stephens as appointment secretary, effective Feb. 19, and named Bernard M. Shanley to succeed Stephens.

Morgan Gets Post

Shanley's present White House post as special counsel to the President will be filled by Gerald D. Morgan, now an administrative assistant to Eisenhower.

Morgan's place as a specialist in liaison with Congre will be filled by former Sen. Fred A. Seaton of Nebraska, who now is assistant secretary of defense for legislative and public affairs. Shanley and Morgan will get $18,000 a year and Seaton $15,000.

Stephens, who has been associated with Eisenhower since 1952, is resigning to return to private law practice in New York. The White House said Stephens is leaving "at his own request" and that his health, not always robust, was not a factor.

Woman Found Nude, Frozen On Road

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tests will be made today at the Cuyahoga County morgue for additional clues to the identity of a slight woman in her 40's, found nude and frozen on a lonely Medina County road.

Pipeline workers found her body yesterday on Boston Road, half a mile east of Ohio 252. She was lying face down in a ditch.

The woman weighed only 87 pounds, was about five feet tall, and had hazel eyes, brown hair flecked with grey, and a small V-shaped scar on her left cheek.

Sheriff's deputies said automobile tire tracks indicated a car had pulled to the side of the road—possibly so someone could pitch the woman into the ditch.

A worn, imitation fur coat, a light blue blouse with its buttons ripped off, and other clothing including stockings, shoes, galoshes and a shirt were found a quarter mile down the road in a pile. Labels in the clothing had been removed.

Identical tire tracks were found near the body and the clothes, deputies said. Medina County authorities said there was no evidence of injuries on the body.

No Action Taken On Ohio Bill Requiring Basic School Subjects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Right now, there's no Ohio law which requires reading and 'riting and 'rithmetic.

Let alone the 'hickory stick'.

The education committees of both the Ohio House and Senate yesterday considered, but took no action, on identical bills to require the teaching of basic subjects in Ohio schools — subjects like the three R's, plus geography, U. S. and Ohio history, science and music.

Less than a year ago, civic and patriotic groups in the state realized the state hasn't had a law for 12 years which requires Ohio schools to teach any subject—except one year of American history and government for high school graduation.

In 1943, whwen a revised Ohio Code was adopted, one of 351 amendments to the measure changed "shall be taught" to "may be taught" in the section dealing with basic subjects traditionally required by the Legislature. The public didn't become aware of the change for more than a decade.

Then came a flurry, headed by the newly formed Committee for Ohio Schools. The group was organized for the purpose of changing the word "may" back to "shall." It has the backing of more than a score of other organizations.

The Senate committee hearing the Senate bill to put the requirements back in the law got hung up over a proposal by Sen. Gordon Renner (R - Hamilton) to make part of the traditionally required subjects mandatory and part optional.

Renner contended some of the state's poorer schools had no facilities for teaching subjects such as first aid, safety, fire protecti o n, conservation, the fine arts including music and instruction in the harmful effects of narcotisa and alcoholic beverages. Therefore, he wated to put those subjects in a second class position and m a k e their teaching optional.

Fred J. Milligan, secretary and counsel for the Committee for Ohio Schools, objected to Renner's proposal on grounds there should be no line drawn which would hold some subjects more important than others.

The House committee did not receive any amendment similar to Renner's, but it discussed Renner's suggestion that some subjects be made optional, and apparently dicarded the suggestion.

Both committees put off further consideration of their bills on school subjects until next Wednesday.

2 Vast Power Plants Opened Near A-Plant

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Two vast electric power plants, built to serve the atomic center near Portsmouth, are now in operation.

Built by 15 Ohio Valley power companies, the plants when completed will pack the biggest single power punch in the history of the electric industry.

The Kyger, Creek plant at Cheshire, Ohio, represents an investment of 175 million dollars, while the Clifty Creek plant at Madison, Ind., will cost 145 millions.

The Ohio Valley Electric Corp. (OVEC) was organized Oct. 1, 1951, to complete the project. It will provide the huge amounts of power asked by the Atomic Energy Commission for its Pike County plant.

OVEC officials said the first 200,000 kliowatt generating u n i t in each of the plants is now in operation after several weeks' testing. Nine more units will boost OVEC's capacity to 2,200,000 kilowatts when the plants are finished in 1956.

OVEC and the AEC signed a 26-year contract Oct. 15, 1952 calling for the private company to supply about 15 million kilowatts yearly.

Officials broke ground for both the Kyger Creek and Clifty Creek plants in December 1952.

Gls' Kin Determined To Make China Trip

SWEA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Relatives of two captive American airmen, determined to visit their kin in Chinese Communists prisons, today pressed for State Department clearance for the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fischer Sr., of Swea City, yesterday telegraphed Secretary of State Dulles saying "we don't believe there is any danger to us" but "we are willing to take risks to see our son."

Their son Capt. Harold Fischer Jr., a double jet ace, has been imprisoned since April 1952, when he was shot down over Korea.

"We feel it is imperative to accept Chinese invitation to speed release of our won," the F i s c h e r couple wired Dulles.

John Kiba, 41, of Akron, Ohio, planned to visit United Nations officials today before seeking help from the State Department in an effort to see his brother, Airman Steve Kiba, 22, in a Chinese prison.

Kiba's sister Irene, 16, decided last night not to make the trip to Red China after another brother, Joe, an Akron policeman, rejected the idea.

Meanwhile, Washington sources indicated the State Department is unlikely to issue passports for visits to imprisoned American fliers because of the tense Formoan situation.

Do Fat Girls Become Models?

They certainly do. Many girls have overcome the problem of being overweight, and have claimed their place in the modeling world. Read this letter from Mrs. A. Drouin, 7711 Euclid Ave., Cleveland 3, Ohio. Mrs. Drouin writes: "I was a model up until the time I was married three years ago. At that time I was a perfect size 11 and weighed only 115 Lbs. Then after settling down, I started to put on excessive weight. It interfered quite a lot with my personality and the awful moods it put me in I wouldn't dare mention. A short time ago I read about how Rennel had helped a lot of people to lose weight, and decided to try it. Rennel sure did the trick. Now I am back to my normal weight and again can wear a size 11 dress instead of a size 15 which I have been wearing for three years. I decreased my weight from 135 Lbs. to 115 Lbs. Also I am thinking about going back to my old job modeling again, just because I have a nice figure to show other people and most of all my friends. They sure envy me these days."

Thousands of others have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves — if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on and be sure to get Rennel.

Pastors Urged Not To Give Hurried Advice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio pastors' convention ends its annual meeting at noon today after four days of addresses and deliberation on far-reaching policy matters.

The clergymen yesterday were urged not to give "false encouragement" to people from their congregations who seek counsel.

Delegates also gave their approval to a dozen resolutions, ranging from movie censorship to support of the United Nations.

Rev. Otis M. Rice, executive director of the Department of Pastoral Services of the National Council of Churches, told pastors not to give "hurried, routine" advice to those asking their counsel.

"It is wrong to advise them to leave their problems in God's hands and give them no further help," he said.

In the second day of voting on policy matters, delegates approved measures calling for:

Opposition to any form of universal military training in America

Opposition to gambling in any form, including raffles, lotteries, and games of chance used by churches to raise funds.

Establishment of an acceptable film censorship.

Support of the United Nations.

Suggestions for churches to keep youth interested in religion.

Laws to curb flagrant misuse of liquor advertising.

Encouragement by the Ohio Council of Churches of interdenominational conferences on Christian vocation.

More realistic cooperation between churches in local communities and in the state.

Less casual and ineffective use by churches of press, radio and television facilities.

Work by private and government agencies toward better housing for low income and minority groups.

Legislative approval of a bill proposing that the effects of narcotics and alcohol be taught in schools.

Censorship of television, comic books, and obscene publications.

Basic Education In Ohio

Sens. Robert A. Pollock of Canton and Robert Shaw of Columbus have introduced into the Ohio General Assembly a bill which would make mandatory the teaching of certain subjects in Ohio's elementary and high schools.

For more than a half century, from 1878 to 1943, Ohio required by law the teaching of such essential subjects as history, local government and geography in public schools.

When the Legislature revised the school code 12 years ago, the word "shall" was changed accidentally or by design to "may." This quite obviously left a loophole through which undesibale teaching methods could be introduced in some commnities.

A statewide organization known as the Committee for Ohio Schools was organized to ask the Legislature to restore the pre-1943 requirements. Chairman of the committee is Paul B Belden Sr. of Canton, president of the Ohio Historical and Archeological Society. Various patriotic organizations joined in the movement.

Subjects which wewre required by state law to be taught prior to 1943, but which have been merely optional since, are:

1. Health and physical education, including instruction in the harmful effects of narcotics and alcoholic beverages.
2. First aid, safety and fire prevention.
3. The history of the United States and of Ohio, including a study of the constitution of both.
4. The language arts, including reading, spelling, oral and written English and literature.
5. Mathematics.
6. Natural science, including instruction the conservation of natural resources.
7. Fine arts, including music, both vocal and instrumental.

Not all of the foregoing subjects are essential, to be sure, but no right-thinking citizen would say they are not desirable.

It does not follow, of course, that just because only one unit of American history and government is mandatory in high school curricula today that all the elementary and high schools of the state have restricted themselves to that level.

Salem's curriculum, for example, include many of the subjects once required, in addition to others which educators contend have answered the needs of the changing world in which we live.

Be that as it may, additional guarantees of a minimum standard are needed, and we urgently hope the current Legislature will correct the mistake made in 1943.

All Quiet On The Potomac

President Eisenhower's state-of-the-union message was a disappointment to those who thrive on controversy. Not a single new issue was opened. There was nothing in the message that Republicans and Democrats could disagree about.

Since these presidential statements now are reports to the people, instead of reports to Congress, thanks to modern communication, the President has said in effect that all is quiet on the Potomac.

The significance of this attitude cannot be overestimated. All is not quiet in the world. There is the customary quota of trouble distributed in the customary places. Latin American presidents are still being assassinated. French politics is the same cynical, selfish game it always has been. Asia is on the march. The Kremlin continues to be the juvenile delinquent among the capitals. Angry voices can be heard in the land, human beings still have an endless capacity for inventing trouble and death and taxes fall relentlessly on the good and the evil alike.

What is quiet, therefore, is the mind of the President, who is charged by the Constitution with the duty of reporting on the state of the union. Therein lies the significance of his words and of the circumstances in which they were heard by the new Congress and by the people.

Americans are being encouraged by a good example to live at peace with themselves and to find in that condition some of the peacefulness they are not able to find outside themselves.

There has been no retreat into isolation and away from reality. There has been an advance into a state of self-assurance justified by military preparedness, economic stability and political cooperation. There has been nothing like it before.

Americans have felt self-assured in the past, as they felt before World War I began, and as they felt before World War II began. But feeling then was based on nothing but wishful thinking about being able to withdraw from the world. Today it is based on confidence that the United States can fulfil its international role without living in a continuous state of jitters.

President Eisenhower has delivered a most encouraging message on the state of the Union. Washington finally is developing the knack of rising above its instinct for hysteria.

Courage Unmistakable

By DAVID LAWRENCE

House Gives Dramatic Display Of National Unity

The atmosphere of non-partisanship in dealing with military and international affairs at this moment is perhaps the most significant piece of news in many years.

Maybe it's the awareness of crisis in the world, maybe it's the realization at last that merican strength if properly reflected in foreign policy ca deter and prevent aggression, ad maybe it's the confident belief that firmness and policies based on principle will in the present emergency result in less rather than more aggression, but there is a distinct change in Washington.

Passage by the House by a virtually unanimous vote of a resolution to give the President power to use the armed forces in the Far East when he deems it necessary is a dramatic display of unity.

MAYBE THE WARNINGS during the last political campaign have made the Democrats disinclined to yield to the temptation to play politics with international policy, though it remains to oe the House will be followed by the the House wll be followed by the Senate. Already rumblings are heard there and the next 24 hours will tell the story of whether the Senate will go along or undo some of the progress made toward bipartisan unity in the House.

Some Democratic senators are arguing that the President doesn't need the power because presumably he possesses it inherently. Other are saying the power should be qualified.

There can be no persuasive argument against the plea that whether the President needs the authority or not, the whole world will be impressed if both houses of Congress by overwhelming vote have spoken out clearly in support of the President's message warning Communist China.

The main thing now is for the Congress to assert ist courage and show its readiness to protect the defense line in the Far East as set forth by the President.

China is not a powerful military nation and it is questionable whether the Soviet Union will care to become involved in Asia and run the risk of being in trouble in Europe at the same time. Historically the Russians dislike intensely the idea of any two-front war. That's why they hesitated to engage Japan in World War II util Hitler was decisively beaten.

Some phases of Russia's vacillating attitude are involved in a report just issued by the Senate Internal Security subcommitee, which is a part of the Senate Judiciary Committee. This report unanimously agreed to and was signed by Senators McClellan, Eastland, Olin Johnston, Democrats and by Senators Jenner, Watkins, Welker and Butler, Republicans.

THESE SEVEN members of the committee reported some important conclusions regarding the conduct of the war in Korea. They write that the testimony of our senior military commanders was that "victory in Korea was possible and desirable." They go on to say that all the commanders were in the European theater first, and "none was a MacArthur man" in the sense of having served under him during World War II.

The conclusion reached by Gens. Clark, Van Fleet, Almond, and Stratemeyer as well as Admiral Joy after personal observation in Korea was "that the action required to achieve victory would not have resulted in World War III." None of them feared Russian entry.

Another pertinent conclusion of the military commanders was that "political considerations were permitted to overrule military necessities" in Korea and that "possible subversion, wishful thinking, European orientation, and Allied pressure" denied victory to the U.N. forces.

These military chiefs pointed out that there is need for clarification of the role of the United States in "a U.N. war" and that this ought to be satisfactorily accomplished "before the United States again commits its forces, its prestige and its vital interest in another U.N. military engagement."

THE COMMITTEE unanimously recommends that "the proper sphere for political decisions in the conduct of war should be outlined and the area of military operations to be conducted by professionals should be defined," so that "political interference in the conduct of hostilities and the negotiation of a military armistice should be eliminated."

These are strong words from a bi-partisan committe eand the lessons of the Korean War experience may have a bearing in the direction of any military operations which the U.N. may order in the future in Asia or Europe.

Three Months Later

By TRUMAN TWILL

In three months, it will be time to mow grass again. This is the right time to tinker the finger-fryer.

Householders who mow grass with power mowers will know what a finger-fryer is. It's the gift of the machine age to escapists who want to have grass and leisure, too. That's what the ads say, so it must be true.

On a platform built over an old-fashioned grass chopper, the machine age has bolted down a dandy little internal combustion engine that makes the grass chopper go, when it is feeling up to snuff.

But the little thing has its ups and downs, what with one thing and another, such as dirt in the gas line, dog bones in the chopper, loose wries, blown gaskets, busted belts magneto trouble, leaks in the joints and flies in the flywheel. Hence, the finger-frying.

There is only one place on it resembling a handle, and this is its exhaust pipe. Anyone who survives a summer without grabbing this hot appendage and frying his fingers is shot with luck or isn't entering into the spirit of the machine age. But to get back to midwinter, when grass mowing is only three months away.

This is the perfect time to tinker the finger-fryer, when it is cold as a commissar's heart. Time is not of the essence now. A beneficiary of the machine age who is not sure what internal combustion is all about can probe the mystery at leisure.

With half a dozen types of screw drivers, a handful of wrenches and patience, any householder with ordinary strength can take apart the entire power mower. With the same equipment, plus imagination, he can put it back together.

He can touch it up with some paint wwhile he's at it. Then when everything is shipshape, he can cover it with a cloth and wait for the grass to grow.

Finally, the grass will be growing all around. The birds will be doing what they do, all around. And the householder will unlimber his grass chopper with the dandy blast off.

The little engine will cough, sneeze, blech and rumble. It will get hotter than the hinges of Hades. But it won't run. The householder then will grab it by its stubby little tail pipe to hoist it into the back of his car to take it to the repair shop.

His fingers will give off a sibliant psst as they fry. His mouth will give off a jet stream of profanity. Then it will be summer again, the real thing. Two dozen jimmied finger fryers will be lined up at the repair shop and it will be a week before the machine age wizard will be able to make a firm diagnosis.

In the meantime, the grass can be whittled down with one of those primitive things a man pushed in front of him, when the only thing that got hot in grass season was the back of the neck.

P.S.: There was a funny-looking little part left over when the grass chopper was put back together two nights ago. It looked like something that belonged in the carburetor, maybe.

There have been attacks on the Administration's foreign policy by some who ought to know better. I believe that these attacks will be overwhelmingly repudiated by both the Democrats and Republicans in the new Congress. — Rep. Daniel Reed (R., N.Y.)

The Question Of Public Power

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

The question of public power versus private power is now centered in the Dixon - Yates controversy which ultimately will be discussed in the 84th Congress in all its manifestations. Dixon - Yates is only one contract of which there are several providing private power for a government-owned operation; the issue of public versus private power is fundamental in American economy.

Sokolsky

Let us say that sooner or later, atomic power will produce all the electric power used in this country. Let us assume, for the sake of argument, that a way will be found to replace coal, oil, and waterpower and that even our automobiles will be serviced by atomic power.

IT IS OBVIOUSLY not so at this moment, but the submarine Nautilus is being powered, in some manner, by the atom and its is apparently an efficient operation. If that can be done, anything can be operated by atomic power ad all we need to do is to wait until developments occur.

We then face the economic fact that all atomic power is government - owned. Should atomic power eventually do to coal and oil and water - power what the electric light did to gas light and the Welsbach mantle or what the steam engine did to the sail or what the automobile did to the horse and buggy, all power, all light and heat will be owned by the government of the United States.

Presently existing private enterprises then would not be able to compete with, we may assume, more efficient and therefore cheaper production, free from taxation and without the checks on costs essential in private enterprise.

When this occurs, it could be that there would be no private power in the United States at all. Is it then the intention of th eAmerican people that the governmen tshould own the total means of distributing power in the United States Such a step would, by definition, be socialism, which is, by definition, government ownership and control of the means of production and distribution.

THE SERIOUSNES of this problem cannot be underestimated because involved is not only the question of a particular company but the nature of our society. Already government control of money and banking is of such a character that th eelement of risk is rapidly being eliminated from this field.

The government has guaranteed loans and deposits to the tune of somewhere in the neighborhood of 250 billion dollars on equities which, in many instances, are of so dubious a protective to the lender that no private enterprise would regard them even as a shaky risk.

The tariff policy is being designed to eliminate American competition in the American market by giving European and Asiatic traders advantages which many American manufacturers cannot enjoy.

There is no free market if one side of it is being subsidized and the other side is not. The result is bound to be that all sides will seek subsidies which can only mean further government control.

In addition to all this is the current practice of the large labor unions, owning enormous reserves of capital, to purchase the stock of companies in their industry, which, if it develops unimpeded, could at some point give the union control of management, the union fuctioning both as ownership and labor, forcing management into the employ of the unions.

Of this, we shall be hearing much during the next year or two, culminating politically in the 1960 election.

THE TIME TO think broadly about these problems is now, not when trends have manifested themselves so firmly that there is nothing to do about them.

The Dixon - Yates case could be used by both political parties not to decide whether Dixon and Yates should have their contract but whether the United States can devise a firm policy on the fundamental question of public power or private power and to relate it all to atomic energy. Thus far, on both sides, much heat but little policy has been generated.

We have a tendency in this country to go along without policy, to support or oppose on an ad hominem basis to hit-or-miss and hope-to-God we do not fail. But what is needed is a philosophy and a policy so that it can be clear to all that there is a plan and a purpose for what is done.

GOP Job-Seekers

The old political maxim, "to the victor belongs the spoils," has a hollow sound to Republicans these days.

Although the Eisenhower administration has been in power for two years, Republican politicians complain they have collected only the most meager spoils in the form of federal jobs.

While it is true that party faithful have been rewarded with several thousand postmasterships and other appointive jobs around the country, Washington, the seat of government, has proved virtually impregnable so far as party jobseekers are concerned.

And despite the fact that changeovers from Republican to Democratic administrations in eight states have set off a new flood of job applications to Republican leaders, the situation shows no signs of changing.

Thi picture, exceedingly dark from the Republican point of view, sums up comments gathered from working politicians on Capitol Hill and a tRepublican National Headquarters. They blame their problems on three factors:

1. Democrats, they claim, still control the personnel offices of most government agencies. Although ostensibly under Republican control, these Democrats are taking care of their own political comrades and freezing out the supposedly favored Republicans.

2. The White House, because of President Eisenhower's high-minded decision that federal jobs are not to be peddled from his doorstep, has failed to provide the kind of aggressive leadership and coordination that the administration should give in order to break the job barrier.

3. The Republicans are faced with the task of demolishing a dynasty built up by the Democrats during 20 years of tremendous government expansion. Those years saw hundreds of thousands of people hired and then blanketed by the protection of Civil Service. "It may take another 20 years to break that down," one Republican commented,"—and I don't think we're going to have that long. Nearly every Republican interviewed mentioned the Democrats still in personnel jobs. Usually preceding their comments with, "I cant prove this, but. . ." they charged that anti-Republicanism exists to some extent in most government agencies and is notorious in some.

An official of the Republican National Committee declared that out of 40 top personnel officials in Washington agencies, fewer than a dozen have been put into their jobs by the Eisenhower administration. The rest, he said, are Democratic holdovers.

There has been talk of attacking this situation by declaring personnel jobs to be at the policy level and removing theiir Civil Service protection, but so far nothing has been done. And the Republicans "missed the boat," as one party pro put it, by not removing by statute the protections over some jobs while they had control of Congress.

The committee official added that while he had no figures on how many Republicans have been put in federal jobs in Washington since the Eisenhower administration took over in January, 1953, there were "damned few."

Some Republicans talked wistfully of the White House patronage office operated by Donald Dawson during the Truman administration. That, they say, was a model of efficiency and effectiveness in putting Democrats into government jobs. They more than hint that President Eisenhower and his aides might do well to take a leaf from the Truman book.

"History can be helpful," the aide to one prominent Republican senator said. "I think there are some things to be learned from the way former administrations handled these things."

Pressure for more jobs for Republicans has been increased by the fact that hundreds of loyal party members are being deposed from political offices and jobs in the eight states in which Republican administrations were turned out of office. Many of these would like to come to Washington. So far, it has been necessary to discourage them.

This additional job pressure is reported to be especially strong from two big Eastern states which underwent a political turnover—Pennsylvania and New York.

Once Over

'Big Heartedness'

"Well," said Pvt. Oscar Purky, who is not without experience as a war prisoner, "I've been over the Red Chinese offer and expect to hear any day now that Moscow has invited an American prisoner's family to call on him in Siberia and that the Man-Eating Shark has announced visiting days. I don't dig why Washington doesn't blow its stack higher over this grisly Communist proposition which makes a joke of the distress of American fathers and mothers, while it also gets wide distrbiution of photographs indicating the worst a war prisoner gets from these brain-washers is a routine of ping pong, gin rummy and checkers in lily white playrooms with cross ventilation.

"The Commies will use the all-out photographic technique when families of prisoners visit China. There was a time when Uncle Sam would come up with a 35 word answer saying, 'If you think you are going to make propaganda all over Asia by pictures of American mothers, fathers, and wives journeying halfway around the world on Red Chinese courtesy cards you are nuts period.'

"Yes, I know that in this powder keg setup Uncle Sam can't be as quick on the trigger as he used to be, but it seems to me he could act a little more disturbed by this queer proposition to permit American families to go to China and be humiliated at close range instead of by long distance. Like Ike says, this is a time for patience. But how patient can you get?

"These offers to pay the way of Mom and Pop to far China are right up the Commie propaganda alley, on account of Chou En-lai is in a sweat to get photographs of them arriving under Travel-at-Your-Own-Risk signs, so he can get wide distribution in the campaign to make Uncle Sam look humble. There has been nothing like it since the report that Boris Karloff was all set to play kiddie programs."

"You don't think that a visit to China would soothe mothers and fathers?" we asked.

"Nobody can sell me that," said Purkey. "After what was done to him no American is going to feel easy if somebody he loves gets insdie those China gates, too."

Oscar shook his head and concluded, "It's a tough world, ain't it? I just told my gal that if she ever hears I have been taken prisoner in the far north not to pay no attention to invitations to drop up and see me at the North Pole sometime."

Tear-jerking stories are being written about the Bay State convicts, emphasizing that all they want is fair play coupled with a brighter outlook, and they have something on their side. But checking their records you find their crimes included rape, kidnaping and the killing of a police officer, and we can't help wondering how their victims are fixed in the matter of hope and fair play these days? How about the future of widows of slain policemen and victims of criminal assaults? (Joe Louis has unintentionally provided some of the greatest laugh lines of the age, notably his: "He can run, but he can't hide, can he?" . . . On a TV show the other day he was telling of his connection with a Chicago milk corporation. "How many cows has it?" he was asked. "I don't think we have many cows but we have an awful lot of milk," he deadpanned.

With legislators, parent associations and so many others distressed by mounting juvenile delinquency and general crime, some Hollywood moguls continue to be undisturbed. . . One of the latest movie releases, with the Brinks robbery as a theme, has a top personality actor glorifying a punk. Makes him a charm guy. And, believe it or not, a movie company announces it will make a movie of the life story of a pug who went AWOL from the Army, slugged his superior officer, and was in trouble during much of his career in the ring!!!

Didn't Go To Annapolis

Adm. Pride, Chief of 7th Fleet, Joined Navy As Enlisted Man

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The one and only U.S. combat vice admiral who never went to Annapolis commands the U.S. 7th Fleet on guard in the waters around Formosa.

He is Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, who joined the Navy 37 years ago as an enlisted man.

Pride, a one-time Navy test pilot, is a bald, 57-year-old grandfather with a light red mustache and a twinkle in his gray eyes—a family man and a church-goer.

His subordinates say Pride is tolerant, understanding, good-tempered and relaxed at leisure, and quietly intense but unruffled at work.

They speak of him in such generous terms that you don't know whether to call him "Pride of the 7th Fleet" or "The Pride of the 7th Fleet."

Pride is not a wisecracker, but he has a sense of humor and never misses anything. Once, on hearing the strong language of a young enlisted sailor on a ship he commanded, Pride remarked:

"How such young boys could learn so much foul language in such a short time I'll never know."

While he is "easy to know—not the dominating type," as one officer phrased it, Pride commands the full respect of his men.

He is soft spoken, of medium height, robust and muscular. He does not use tobacco. In drinks, he limits himself to two cocktails; takes them only to be sociable.

"Ive never seen such a conscientious man—he's always worrying about the taxpayers' money," said a fellow officer.

Pride, the officer added, pays from his own pocket for many entertainment expenses he feels he cannot charge legitimately to the government.

The initial M. stands for Melville and the only nickname he has ever had is Mel. Only his closest friends call him that.

Pride's eyes are shrewd and laughter has contributed as much as time to the wrinkles around them.

Pride was born in Somerville, Mass., Sept. 10, 1897. He attended engineering school at Tufts College before he enlisted in the U.S.

Adm. Alfred Pride

Naval Reserve early in 1917 as a machinist mate, second class.

Pride transferred to the regular service in 1921 and in the '20s became a Navy test pilot.

He was among the junior officers who carried out experimental take-offs and landings on the Langley, a converted collier that became the Navy's first aircraft carrier.

While testing an old fashioned biplane he crashed in the Anacostia River near Washington, D. C.

As Pride recalled, fire enveloped the cockpit. The plane was too low to bail out, so Pride crashlanded in the river. His face was burned and his left leg was broken. The leg has never been the same since. But his plane companion emerged uninjured.

Pride has checked out in almost everything the Navy has to fly, including helicopters. He still is an active flier.

Only two days ago he was at the controls of an R4D, the Navy version of the twin-engine military transport plane, on a flight from Taipeh to Tainan in southern Formosa and back.

He commanded first a bombing and then a fighting squadron on the Langley and held various assignments in the United States.

He was executive officer on the carrier Saratoga at the time the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

In 1948 h eassumed command of the newly - commissioned carrier Belleau Wood and patroled the Pacific. In 1944 he was promoted to rear admiral and assigned to duty at Pearl Harbor.

Duty in Washington and at sea followed until May of 1947, when he was appointed chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics in Washington.

Pride was named commander of Carrier Division 2 in 1951 and the next year was made commander of the Naval Air Test Center at Patuxent River, Md.

Pride assumed command of the 7th Fleet with the rank of vice admiral Dec. 1, 1953.

He plays the harmonica and flute but is not proud of his musical ability.

Except when unavoidably prevented, Pride attends church regularly. He also is a prodigious reader, with a preference for technical and militay material.

He never visits an area without first reading extensively about it. It was characteristic, then, that the admiral read many books on the Far East before coming to the Orient.

Pride is mechanically minded and loves to putter around with machinery. He does some hunting and fishing and likes photography. He owns several cameras.

Walking, and he does so at a brisk pace, is his favorite exercise. He is an enthusiastic sighteer with a lively, never ending interest in strange things and strange places.

One thing Pride always looks forward t ois his visits to his cabi at Sebec Lake, Maine, where he likes to take it easy, fish and tinker with his car.

Much is likely to happen of a far less tranquil nature before Pride's next visit to Sebec Lake.

Ex-Blacksmith At Ford Motor Helm

DETROIT (AP)—A one-time blacksmith's helper has been elected board chairma of the Ford Motor Co.

Election of Ernest R. Breech to that position was announced yesterday by Henry Ford II, president. It is designed, Ford said, to help meet demands of the "increased breadth and depth of the company's operations."

Also announced following a board meeting was election of Lewis D. Crusoe and D. S. Harder as executive vice presidents, and Robert S. McNamara and Dwillard J. Davis as vcie presdients.

Crusoe assumes charge of the company's three automotive divisions; Harder will have charge of three basic manufacturing groups.

McNamara replaces Crusoe as vice presdient and general manager of the Ford division; Davis succeeds Harder as vice president in charge of manufacturing.

Announcing the administrative changes Ford said the company's over-all expansion and improvement has involved facilities expenditures of more than half a billion dollars in the last two years; the company's share of the truck and car market has increased 37 per cent and two new divisions have been created.

Breech, born in Lebanon, Mo., 58 years ago, was president of Bendix Aviation Corp. when he joined Ford in 1946 as executive vice president. Before that he had been a vice president of General Motors, and later president and board chairman of North American Aviation, Inc.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—Arrested in the act of stealing equipment at an amusement park here, the culprit told police:

The arresting officers turned the 7-year-old boy over to his parents, after he relented and gave his name.

Navy Clamps Censorship On Formosa News

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)— American correspondents with the U.S. 7th Fleet off Formosa are subject to an almost complete news blackout under Navy censorship.

The Navy's restrictions forbid any news story touching on the following five subjects;

1. Fleet movements.
2. Fleet size.
3. Fleet disposition.
4. Intentions.
5. Possible damage.

These restrictions have been applied so broadly and severely as to withhold anything but a trickle of minor feature stories.

The Navy insists the restrictions are not censorship. However, the restrictions are actually a censorship much, much tigher than any formal censorship applied by the U.N. Command in the Korean War.

All correspondents with the fleet have been required to sign fresh agreements to submit their stories to the ship captain or higher commander for clearance. Even if the stories pass the captain, they must be sent to the commander of the Pacific Fleet in Pearl Harbor, then to the Navy chief of information in Washington for ultimate release.

As a result, almost no news of the fleet has been cleared for publication.

The fleet commander, Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, has refused repeated requests, some made face-to-face, to allow newsmen to work aboard the flagship.

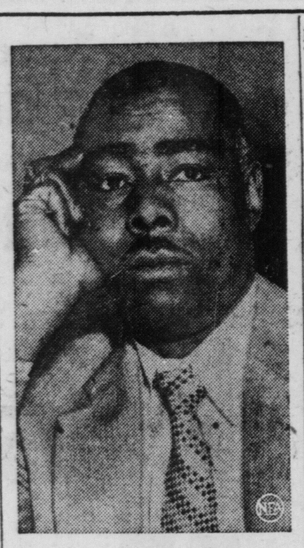
the coldest day in nearly four years.

There was a warming trend across most of the South except in parts of Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas and through the middle Atlantic states. Lowest reading in that area was 28 at Cross City, Fla.

Precipitation was limited to snow flurries across the northeast quarter of the country and in some parts of the Northern Plains, and a narrow band of rain in parts of Arkansas and western Tennessee.



GUILTY — A federal jury in Chicago found Claude Lightfoot, executive secretary of the Illinois Communist Party, guilty of a violation of the Smith Act. Lightfoot was convicted under a previously untested section of the law which makes mere membership in a subversive organization a crime, provided the member is aware of the organization's aims.

Rubinstein

1938 under the Russian quota but on a Portuguese passport. The Portuguese government since has "disowned" the passport.

Rubinstein came naturally by his financial wizardry.

His father, Dmitri, was privy counsellor to the Czar, financial adviser to the monk Rasputin, and an official of banks in Moscow and St. Petersburg.

Since 1952 Rubinstein had been fighting through the courts against a deportation order. He also was in trouble with the government because of some of his financial deals.

He won an earlier deportation fight when the government tried unsuccessfully to oust him on the ground he entered the United States on an illegal Portuguese passport.

Rubinstein was the subject of an alleged extortion plot last year.

Emanuel Lester, 31, of the Bronx is under indictment charging him with attempting to extort $535,000 from the financier.

Lester, an alleged automobile smuggler, claimed he was merely trying to collect a debt from Rubinstein, against whom he had filed a $750,000 lawsuit .

Lester also is charged with smuggling automobiles here from Canada and selling them with false registration. He is free in $7,500 bail.

In fighting the government's deportation action, Rubinstein contended that during the war he was the citizzen of a neutral country—Portugal—that he was the sole support of his mother and other relatives and that he was in an essential occupation.

He had various industrial interests aside from his financial manipulations.

West German Industry Adopts U.S. Methods

By NORMAN LINDHURST

BONN

West German industry is pressing a drive to boost output by adopting American mass - production techniques.

The war was a convincing demonstration to the Germans of the superiority of mass production over the handicraft - type production they had long admired. The Germans are almost unanimously convinced that they were defeated by American mas production rather than by Allied troops and airmen.

Germany, in common with most other European nations, has long favored precision production at the expense of volume. Three factors, however, have combined to force the most hardheaded Rhur industrialist to change his mind.

Germany is facing a severe labor shortage. Labor is restive over low wage scales, and Economics Minister Ludwig Erhand's hammering at German industry's age-old cartel production system has led most industrialists to view the "controlled market" as a lost cause.

Most of the ideas for pepping up German production have originated with so-called German technical assistance teams which have been sent to the United States by the State Department to study at first hand the mass-production techniques of American industry.

The State Department has also brought American production experts to Germany to indoctrinate German producers in U.S. industry's philosophy of a mass market.

World War II provided potent stimulus for the overhauling of German production theories.

Major German plants were flattened by bombing and had to be rebuilt from the ground up.

In the process the Germans have installed modern machinery and land out production lines for volume output. The rebuilding of German industry brought to the fore a new crop of energetic young production experts who otherwise might never have had a chance to test their conviction that American mass production can be imported to Germany.

The country's amazing industrial resurgence has been sparked by hundreds of modern new plants equipped with the latest machinery.

Machinery in plants which survived the war is being replaced with modern equipment; produced tion lines are being revamped to increase volume and lower unit cost, and German plant management is being shaken up to get more production with less manpower. Most German industrialists realize that German labor's in creasingly strident demands for a bigger cut of German prosperity cannot be indefinitely pigeonholed.

Industry and labor moreover are united in opposing any mass import of foreign labor which might aggravate unemployment resulting from a sudden production slump.

It has long been a favorite argument of German industrialists that American mass production "would never work" in Germany because Germany lacked the American mass market.

This theory has been shaken in recent years by the high - powered salesmanship of State Department economic experts who contend that a nation of 50 million persons is a mass market, and by the movement toward European integration symbolized by the Schuman Plan Coal and Steel Community.

Formosa

ful action will be completed by the end of the week.

Several amendments have been proposed but Knowland is battling to get the resolution through the Senate in exactly the same form it was approved by the House 409-3.

Sees Quemoy Threatened

Knowland told the Senate yesterday amendments proposed by Senators Humphrey (D-Minn) and Kefauver (D-Tenn), if adopted, would be "a green light for the Communists to come and take" Quemoy and Matsu. These two islands, just off the China coast, guard main approach routes to Formosa, seat of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

Humphrey and Kefauver made it clear they had little hope the Senate would approve their amendments.

Humphrey said he believes "Congress has no choice to do anything but grant the power the President has asked."

Claims Other Support

Kefauver said in a separate interview he knows "a great many senators are with us in their hearts" who may not vote for the amendments.

"It is difficult to oppose a presidential request of this kind," he said. "But if the President really wants unity in Congress, he should act to meet some of the objections to this resolution."

The criticim voiced in preliminary debate yesterday centered on that portion of the resolution which, as generally interpreted, would give Eisenhower authorization from Congress to order attacks on troop concentrations or staging areas n the China mainland.

Humphrey has proposed to limit the defese area to Formosa and the Pescadores. Kefauver would put Formosa under United Nations supervision.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), opposing the resolution, said he thinks it will pass "overwhelmingly" without substantial change.

Possible uses: Accurate measurement of earth's rotation, spectroscopic study of molecular structure, frequency modulation, and a role in navigation.

Language Master

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—When Charles Berlitz was three years old he had learned four languages — and was trying to make up a new one of his own.

His gradnfather, father, mother and cousin each spoke to him in a different language — German, Spanish, French and English.

"I had the idea that every grownup had a different language all his own," he recalled, "and the family had to discourage me from trying to develop one for myself."

When Charles was ready for school his grandfather, Maximillian Berlitz, founder of The Berlitz Schools, decided it was time the boy started studying languages seriously. The old gentleman, who started his career as a clockmaker and never attended college himself, had mastered 50 languages.

"From the age of 8 on I was taught a new language — either European or Oriental — every year," Charles said.

Today at 40 he is author of a textbook in Swahili and speaks 20 languages ranging from Arabic to Zulu.

"Hardly a drop in the bucket," he said mildly, "when you consider there are some 1,200 languages and 800 dialects in the world."

As vice president of The Berlitz Schools he likes to master personally out-of-the-way and obscure tongues which become of international interest. Right now he's brushing up on Quechua, the native language of Indians in the Andes.

"Missionaries and explorers want to learn it — we've had a number of calls for it," he explained. "There's nothing written in it. It's purely a spoken language."

The original Berlitz School, established in Rhode Island in 1878, has expanded to a network of 27 schools in this country, 40 throughout the world. It has had some 17 million students, including such notables as Enrico Caruso, Sinclair Lewis, Andrew Kostelanetz, Leon Trotsky, Nelson Rockefeller, the Dchess of Windsor and Eleanor Roosevelt.

The schools, which specialize in teaching a spoken vocabulary of a foreign language in a short time, are widely used by major international business firms and governments.

"A private student by working two hours a day can learn a language in about three months," Berlitz said. "Our basic course includes about 1,200 words, but you can more than get by with a knowledge of 800 words. You'd be amazed how many people get along in English and use only 500 words.

"Under pressure we have taught oil workers being sent to Indonesia a working knowledge of Malayan in two weeks. They had to work six hours a day at it, but in two weeks they could make their graduation speech in Malayan."

Interest in speaking foreign languages has never been greater in the United States. Berlitz estimates that some 3,000,000 Americans have learned in recent years to speak a language other than English.

"Spanish is still the favorite, followed by French," he said. "Right after the war many people wanted to learn Russian. Now more are interested in German."

Berlitz says Chinese is the hardest language to learn to write. It has 60,000 separate word signs. But Basque is generally regarded as the hardest to speak.

"The Spanish have a proverb: 'When God wished to punish the devil, he sentenced him for six years to do nothing but study Basque.'

"But the hardest language to learn to speak without a noticeable accent is English, because it has few rules of accent."

The Berlitz system ordinarily teaches only about 50 international languages, but prides itself that if the need develops, it can find here in the melting pot of the world teachers for almost any tongue.

"Sooner or later, we may have to do something about languages on other planets," said Berlitz, and added wryly:

"We only hope they speak vocally—and not through antennae."

Assembly Gets 7 Lausche Bills

GOP Leaders Not Decided On Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Proposed laws to carry out at least the major ports of Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche's program for the next two years were expected to be in the Ohio Legislature's hands today.

Seven more administration bills were submitted yesterday and several more are expected today before both houses recess for the wekend.

Republicans, who control both Senate and House, have not yet decided finally on the program they will try to achieve. Deadline for introduction of bills is Feb. 14 —nine legislative and 16 calendar days away.

Some 46 more bills were intr-o duced in the Legislature yesterday bringing the session's total to 392. These were the Lausche-suggeted meaures:

A Senate bill to give common pleas courts the authority to halt sale and distribution of obscene, indecent or disgusting literature.

A Senate bill to permit the State Board of Education to wihhold subsidies from local boards which permit racial segregation of pupils.

A Senate bill to bolster business firms' protection against threats or violence. The admitted taget was practices of "gypsy" truck unloaders who force truckers to hire unneeded freight handlers.

A Senate bill authorizing water inventory and control by drainage basins.

A House bill to revamp the state's current ineffective film censorship laws to meet objections voiced by recent court decisions.

A House bill to lift the $65-a-month ceiling on aid to the blind and make aid payments solely on the basis of need.

A House bill to tighten state control of coal strip mining, require better grading of cuts and spoil banks, reduce stream pollution by mine acids and protect highways from digger's encroachment.

Organized labor backed identical House and Senate bills to liberalize workmen's compensation benefits. Maximum benefit now is $32.50 a week. The new proposal would increase that to two-thirds of a worker's weekly wage, allow him $4 a week for dependents and increase death benefits from $9,000 to $18,000. The bills also knock out a weekly waiting period before injured workers can begin to receive benefits.

Another measure offered yesterday would provide for operation of "The Southeast Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital" in Hocking County. The bill opens the hospital to any legal residents of Ohio having, or suspected of having, tuberculosis and provides the cost of hospital care shall be borne by the county in which they live.

Six Trucks, Garage Destroyed In Blaze

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Fire swept the repair garage of the Lattavo Brothers, Inc., trucking company yesterday, destroying six trucks and damaging the structure and its machinery. Ormand Lattavo, president of the company, said damage would exceed $125,000. Firemen said the blaze apparently started when a workman accidentally brought a cutting torch too close to a gasoline tank.

General Says Reds Stockpile A-Weapons

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Air Force vice chief of staff says Russia is stockpiling "tremendously destructive nuclear weapon" and a bomber fleet capable of striking North America.

Gen. Thomas D. White said, "This threat is not in the future, it is here today and it is real."

In a speech delivered to a Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner last night, Gen. While said he believed U. S. military leaders would be remiss in their duty if they did not call attention to the "urgency and terrible reality of the situation."

Gen. White said the primary problem of the Air Force now is shortage of trained men. He said the re-enlistment rate has dropped under 30 per cent, and is below 15 per cent among experienced technicians.

Police To End Sale Of Ball Tickets to Truckers

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Police will no longer stop trucks to solicit drivers to purchase tickets for the annual policeman's ball. Reds Hope For Stock Market Slump

Russians Believe U. S. Certain To Suffer Economic Setback

(Fourth Of A Series)

NEW YORK (AP)—Every time you draw a paycheck, it worries a man in Moscow.

His name is Eugene Varga. He is the leading Soviet economist. He watches you and your earnings like a hawk. Why?

Because he has staked his reputation—and possibly his neck—on the prediction that millions of Americans will be out of work one of these days. He has been predicting for years that the United States is due for another crippling depression.

Soviet policy most probably is based on the proposition that the United States must suffer a severe economic setback after World War II. The graph, for 150 years, indicates that this always happens, not once but twice, after fighting stops.

Yet today, nearly 10 years after the war, the big crack has not developed. Slumps in 1949 and 1953 failed to follow the harshly familiar tracks of 1921 and 1932.

Foreign aid, the Korean War, rearmament and a huge defense budget all affected the economy. But was there anything else?

The great question today is this: Do American managers and planners possess the know-how, plus legislative machinery, to head off a depression in its early stage?

Says the economist Dr. Sumner Slichter:

"Surely, the days when Americans must accept pronounced ups and downs of business as inevitable are fast coming to an end."

Of course, people were saying that in 1929 there would be no depression. But some changes have been made since then.

Today, the Securities and Exchange commission holds wide powers over the stock market. It can require corporations to furnish complete financial information about a new stock issue. It can censor proxies and revoke trade privileges of brokers or investment bankers.

And it can compel "insiders" in a corporation to pay over to the stockholders any gains found to have been made in stock operations through information not available to other holds.

The all-important functions of maintaining a sound money and credit base — which influences prices, employment and the general level of economic activity—rests with the Federal Reserve. About half of the banks in the nation are members of the system, and it holds some 75 per cent of the total deposits.

The Federal Reserve Board recently used its braking powers on the stock market, lifting margin requirements by 10 per cent. That is, to buy $10 in stock today, you have to put up at least $60 in cash, as against $50 before this action. You can't borrow as much.

Apart from the stock market, the economy as a whole today can be affected by the so-called "built-in" controls.

Take 1953 as an example.

A recession had apparently set in. Unemployment was rising toward the four million mark. Yet as yearend, the total personal income of the nation had set a record. And disposable income —meaning take-home pay—had remained level.

That in turn meant that the nation's buying power had been largely sustained. Consumer buying held up pretty well. In other words, the fateful cycle — reduced employment, reduced income, reduced buying, reduced production, causing increased unemployment — simply ddn't develop in the usual way.

Gold sells for about $500 a pound.

Quakers Are Favored Over Chaney Cowboys

By LOWELL FLEISCHER

The Youngstown Chaney Cowboys with a 7-4 season record will invade the Salem High School gym Saturday night in the only contest scheduled for the locals this week.

The Quakers are favored to come up with their 12th win of the season against a lone setback to Youngstown Rayen two weeks ago, although Chaney is expected to give the locals a rough time.

The Rayen Tigers defeated Chaney 58-54, the same score by which Salem lost its game. Two teams which fell before the high scoring Quakers, Youngstown Ursuline and Woodrow Wilson, defeated the Cowboys.

Ursuline dropped Coach George Simstad's crew 53-38 and Wilson dumped the Chaney five 50-39.

CHANEY HAS three boys over six feet tall and two guards just under the mark, at 5-11.

This week the Quakers were ranked the fifth top high school cage squad in the state by sports editors of the Associated Press. In a United Press survey of the state's coaches, the Salem squad was in 17th place.

Each week sports editors of Associated Press papers and radio stations in the state vote on both Class A and Class B squad on a 10-9-8 point basis. There has been much discussion of the poll in the past years, with many coaches charging that it was not a true picture of the Ohio basketball scene.

If sports editors the state over would vote for the best teams or those they considered the best teams, it would be a much more accurate poll. Several teams from the larger southern cities usually are ranked near the top but when the tournaments roll around they are left by the way side. Teams from the larger cities with two or three newspapers and several radio stations poll many more votes.

THE QUAKERS HAVE scored a total of 864 points in 11 games to 583 for their opponents. With Salem's fast game, most of the scores have been high with the exception of a few when teams stalled the ball on the Quakers.

Captain Harry Baird is currently leading the Salem scoring parade with 176 points. Jack Alexander follows with 152. Ken Bosu has tallied 145 markers and Rich Hunter 134 points in 11 contests.

Karl Zellers' Salem Reserves will be out for their 13th straight season win and the 30th straight without a loss. The Jayvees have scored a total of 742 points for the season to 510 for their opposition. Matt Klein is leading the Jayvee scoring with 185 points.

Johnny Stevenson tallied 117 points and Ted Jackson 108. Zellers cleared his bench during most of the Reserve game and the scoring is fairly well distributed.

After Friday's battle the Quakers will have six regularly scheduled contest before tourname nt play gets under way at the South High Field House in Youngstown the last week in February and continuing through March.

Houston Trips Aggies, Georgetown Is Upset

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Things never have been this tough for Hank Iba in college basketball at Oklahoma A&M.

Since he joined the Aggies as top man for the 1934-35 season, Iba has been involved in 16 championships for the Misouri Valley Conference.

Iba's Cowpokes never have lost more than 10 games in any season —and they've lost as many as 10 only once.

It's a lot different this year. Houston toppled the Aggies deeper into the Valley second division last night 60-58 and made Iba's overall record this season 6-8. That's just two defeats shy of his highest lost total—when he had a 14-10 mark in 1942-43.

In other games, Mercer upset Gorgia 68-66; Mississippi Southern handed Georgetown its second surprise on a Southern tour 69-65; Georgia Tech put another dent in Auburn's once-proud record 73-70; Arkansas stalled past Oklahoma City U 55-52; and Cincinnati whomped Ball State 113-65.

Houston, not much better off than A&M in the Valley with a 2-3 mark, almost let the Aggies get away. Three times the Cougars built up a 10-point lead in the second half, but had to stall to pull it out. Don Boldebuck of Houston was high with 28 points.

Georgia, surprising the experts in the Southeastern Conference, went down during a five-minute second half spell that saw the Bulldogs outscored 16-2.

Georgetown shudda stayed at home instead of heading South. Miami (Fla.) spilled the Hoyas Monday and Mississippi Southern made it a 9-5 record for Georgetown. Southern took an early lead and never trailed.

It was the third straight defeat for Auburn after winning the first seven. Joe Helms brought Tech into a 62-62 tie and Dick Lenholt put the Engineers ahead to stay.

Arkansas and Oklahoma City had a tough time gaining any kind of advantage until Buddy Smith snapped the 10th tie of the game to push the Porkers ahead with five minutes left.

Workman Knocks On Wall, Heads Off Holdup

FITCHBURG, Mass. (AP) — Two men locked Oscar Marceau, 38, and his brother Paul, 26, in the rear room of their liquor store last night and were about to rifle the cash register when a workman unsuspectingly hammered on the partition from a store next door. The thugs frightened by the noise, fled empty-handed.

Jimmy Carter Whips Bobby Woods Easily

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Lightweight Champion Jimmy Carter, back in action for the first time in two months, said "it wasn't one of my better fights," but it was much too good for young Bobby Woods.

The 31-year-old champion took a unanimous 10-round decision from Woods in a non-title match here last night and looked fast and sharp agaist a back peddling opponent. There were no knockdowns.

Carter weighed 137¼, Woods 136¾.

It was a dull affair that brought boos at the end from the crowd of more than 6,000 which paid $21,000 in hopes of seeing the local boy match his fine performance here six weeks ago against Sandy Saddler.

But Wodos, 21, couldn't hand with the counter p u n c h as he had against the featherweight champion and retreated most of the night.

DiMaggio, Vance, Lyons, Hartnett Voted In Hall Of Fame

Membership Now Totals 77

DiMaggio Leads With 223 Votes

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, one of the Yankees' all-time greats, reached baseball's Hall of Fame today just three years after his retirement and was joined by Dazzy Vance, Ted Lyons and Gabb Hartnett as the latest diamond heroes enshrined at Cooperstown, N.Y.

The four were elected yesterday by 251 ten-year members of the Baseball Writers Assn. Their election increased the Hall of Fame membership to 77. They will be formally inducted at the Cooperstown museum July 25.

Under the rules a man must be mentioned on three forths (189) of the ballots for election. Sixty-five former players received one or more votes.

DiMaggio, who just missed last year when the late Rabbit Maranville, Bill Dickey and Bill Terry were selected, led the ticket. He drew 223 votes as the writers recalled his lifetime batting average of .325, his brilliant playing in 51 World Series games in 10 Series with the Yankees and his major league record of hitting in 56 successive games.

"It's great to be on the same team with all those old timers," said DiMag, who heard of his selection while driving from Boston to New York.

Lyons and Vance, who reached the heights as right-handed pitchers before DiMaggio joined the Yankees, were next in line.

Lyons, who compiled a 260-230 record with the Chicago White Sox before he finally left in 1948 after managing the Sox for three years, received 217 votes. Lyons was a coach with the Brooklyn Dodgers last year.

Vance, famous as Brooklyn's fireball pitcher, was named on 205 ballots. The Dazzler, who now spends most of the time these days hunting and fishing at his Homosassa, Fla., home, didn't arrive in the majors until late in life but he compiled a 197-140 record with his best performance of 28-6 coming in 1924.

Although Dazzy acquired greatest fame as a member of the Dodgers he never reached the World Series until he was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934. He appeared in one game.

Hartnett, who recalls his dramatic home run in the gloaming which won the 1938 National League pennant for the Cubs as one of his career highlights, received 195 votes. Gabby, now 54, caught for the Cubs from 1922 through 1940, managing them the last three years. He bowed out of baseball as manager of Buffalo in the International League in 1946 and now runs a bowling alley in Chicago. He had a lifetime batting average of .297, hit 236 homers, played in four World Series and five All-Star Games.

Hanoverton, Republican Club, Konnerth's, L & W Win Tilts

Hanoverton Merchants defeated Speaker's Market 55-39 and the L & W Club downed Andalusia Dairy 53-41 in Class B action last night at the Memorial Building. Konnerth's Jewelers whipped Belseb 28 - 20 and the Republican Club romped to a 41-14 win over the Memorial Building squad in girls play.

The Hanoverton Club took an 11-7 lead at the end of the first period to lead Speaker's all the way. Jim Offenberger and Bill Zurcher paced the Hanoverton squad with 14 points each. Frank Corso and Ed Probert were high point men for Speaker's, with 14 and 10 points, respectively.

The L & W Club tallied six more points than the Andalusia team in the third quarter to break up a close ball game and go on to win by 12 markers. Jim Bixby and George Stanley paced the L & W scoring with 13 points each. Herman Burson was high for Andalusia with 17 points.

Darlene Smith scored 17 of her team's 28 points to lead Konnerth's to victory over Belseb. Helen Yeager had seven for Konnerth's and Stanley seven for Belseb. Konnerth's took a slim two-point first-period lead but pulled out in front during the remaining three quarters.

Joan Stroject and Carol Keener paced the Republican Club with 12 points each. Leah Doyle was high scorer for the Memorial Building with eight points. The Republican Club took a 13-4 first quarter lead and added 12 markers in the second and six in the third while the Memorial Building squad went scoreless.

Canadian, NFL 'Peace' Sought

Bert Bell To Seek No-Raiding Pact

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League opened its annual business meeting today, giving Commissioner Bert Bell a free hand in negotiating "peace with honor" with Canadian football.

With the unanimous approval of NFL directors, Bell said he would try to work out "a just and honorable peace. We did not start this thing and we are not afraid. We don't plan to turn the other cheek."

Actually, the NFL's war is against one club—the Toronto Argonauts—rather than the entire Canadian league structure. The Argos are determined to hire and talk business with any NFL player they choose, with or without the consent of their own Big Four league or Canadian football as a whole.

Th eother members of the Big Four — Hamilton, Montreal and Ottawa — have indicated they are agreeable to a peaceful settlement of mutual problems with the NFL, and have entered into a semi-official no-raiding agreement.

The Argos, however, have pushed the issue. In fact, they picked the eve of the NFL session to announce the signing of Billy Shipp, 275-pound tackle of th e New York Giants. Shipp is the second New Yorker signed by Toronto in as many days.

Roy Walsh, general manager of the Giants, termed it "an old announcement." The Argonauts sent out the release for no other reason than to breathe defiance of the recent no-raiding agreement.

"There can be no peace," added Walsh, "so long as the Argos operate under their present setup. They will continue to raid and so will we. So far as we are concerned, the war is still on."

Bell mentioned the two Giants as well as a Detroit player snared by Toronto and said, "something will have to be done about that." He indicated Toronto would have to return the three players and others picked up from NFL teams if peace is to come.

Freeman's Scoring Lead Cut by Schlundt

CHICAGO (AP) — Towering Don Schlundt, Indiana's persistent scorer, is gradually whittling down the Big Ten sharpshooting lead of Robin Freeman and now is less than two points behind the Ohio State star in averages.

Freeman, hobbled with an ankle injury, saw his average slip when he was held to 20 points against Purdue Saturday. He was unable to play against Iowa Monday.

The hotshot Buckeye guard has pumped in 45 field goals and 37 free throws for 127 points in four games. His average is 31.7.

Schlundt has hit 43-66 for 152 points and a 30.4 mark in five league games. The big center is hitting .500 per cent of his floor shots, topped only by the .547 among the 15 top leaders by Ohio State's Johnny Miller.

Miller is the week's only newcomer to the scoring "big Ten," ranking eighth with a 20.4 average.

The team scoring lead is held by Minnesota with an average of 86.7. Iowa heads the defense with a 78.4 yield.

Joey Giardello Beats Andrews

Poor Showing Hurts Chance At Title Bout

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Joey Giardello, his plans for an early crack at the middleweight title confounded by a less-than-spectacular showing in his first outing in four months, looked forward today to a rematch with Al Andrews.

"Sure, I want to fight him again," Joey said in his dressing room after winning a unanimous, but disputed, 10-round decision over Andrews last night in a rough brawl at Norfolk's Municipal Auditorium.

"One more against Andrews and then I'm ready for Bobo Olson," Giardello said, his right hand encased in a tub of ice and his left eye sporting a shiner.

Andrews didn't see it that way, although he was just as eager for another fight with Giardello. The two boxers tentatively agreed to a rematch in Baltimore Feb. 8.

"There's no doubt I won," Andrew contended bitterly, fighting back tears. "It was the easiest fight I've had in a year He didn't knock me down. I was off balance.

The knockdown won for Giardello. It was the only time either man was floored and came in the ninth round when Andrews walked into a wicked left hook and a sharp chopping right.

Up to that point, one judge had Andrews ahead, the other had the fight even. Referee Paddy Mills had it for Giardello all the way.

Giardello weighed 162, Andrews 159.

Tebbetts Praises Giants As Team

BOSTON (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetst of the Cincinnati Redlegs thinks Willie Mays is terrific but that many of his world champion New York Giant teammates could just as easily have been named the National League's most valuable player.

"The Giants' triumph was a great team effort," Tebbetts said last night at the 16th annual Boston baseball writers' dinner. He was presented the Paul Shannon Award for outstanding achievement in his debut as a major league pilot.

"But with all credit to Mays," Birdie added, "you've got to give full credit also to men like Alvin Dark, Don Mueller, Johnny Antonelli, Ruben Gomez, Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom.

"Those Giants would battle you every inch of the way and then in the late innings throw in someone like Grissom or Wilhelm, the ace relief pitchers, or Dusty Rhodes, the pichhitting wonder. It was just plain murder.

"Everything Mays does is great but they could have picked any one of the New York players."

Badminton Continues At Memorial Building

Badminton play will continue at the Memorial Building Friday evening.

Adults contests begin at 7 p.m. and the youths' games are scheduled after school. The turnout for the first adult session was small, and it is hoped that the number of participants will increase. Both men and women are invited to attend.

If there is enough demand for morning or early afternoon play, arrangements will be made for those interested. Anyone interested in playing during the mornings or afternoos, should cotact Ward Zeller at the Memorial Building.

Toledo Youth Is Top Newsboy

To Be Honored For Record As Carrier

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—David T. Camp, 17-year-old Toledo student at Carnegie Institute of Technology, is the winner of the Glenn L. Cox Newspaperboy Achievement Award for 1954.

Young Camp will be honored tonight at the annual banquet of the Ohio Newspaper Assn. The presentation of the award will be made by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Camp was selected as outstanding among the Toledo Blaes 3,000 newsboys. Ray Kest, Blade circulating manager, called Camp the "perfect carrier-salesman." The youth's record was matched against that of newsboys of every other newspaper in the state.

A committee of judges representing the fields of education, recreation and youth development selected the winning boy. In six years of carrying the Blade, the Cox award winner developed a small route to 192 customers and never had a complaint lodged against him. The eldest of eight children, Camp saved $3,000 in addition to purchasing his own clothing, books and tuition at Central Catholic High School in Toledo.

He is attending Carnegie Tech on a $4,720 Alfred P. Sloan national scholarship. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Camp of Toledo.

Newspaperboys given honorable mention by the judges include: Claude L. Clark, Canton Repository; George Ockuly and Donald Reutner, Cleveland Plain Dealer; William C. Anderson, Columbus Citizen; John Mikal Townsley and Frederick W. Umminger, Dayton Daily News; Edward Schmidt, Hamilton Journal - News; John Thomas, Marion Star, and Greg Gilmore, New Philadelphia Times.

Most awards will be handed out at the banquet tonight.

Seven native Ohioans and one university, Ohio State, will receive the 1955 Governor's Award. Each will receive an engraved bronze plaque for outstanding service in the advancement of Ohio's prestige throughout the nation and the world.

Receipients include: Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, a Columbus native who is commanding general of the U. S. Strategic Air Command, Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. Steel Corp. board chairman, native of Pigeon Run, Stark County; Joe E. Brown, for half a century a comedian of stage and screen, born at Holgate, Henry County; Charles Merz, editor of the New York Times, Sandusky native; Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, religious leader, author and lecturer, born at Bowersville, Greene County; Willard C. Kirk, a farmer in his native Fayette, County, twice acclaimed world corn growing champion; Robert Geissman, artist, native of New Washington, Crawford County, who created Ohio's official poster: "Ohio gave flight and light to the world."

Ohio State will be citied for achievements in science, health, atomic energy and national collegiate sports.

Roger Ferger, Cincinnati Enquirer publisher, will be the banquet speaker. He will discuss his recent South American trip as a director of the Inter - American Press Assn.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche and other state officials are to be guests at the banquet.

The association sessions extend through Saturday. Advertising, circulation and management problems will be discussed during the general sessions of the convention. Awards in the annual Osman C. Hooper newspaper show will be announced Friday.

Guaranteed Wage Seen Top Union Issue

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell says the guaranteed annual wage is likely to be the major problem at bargaining sessions across the nation this year.

Mitchell, here to speak tonight at a national industrial relations meeting, said at a news conference:

"The question of guaranteed wages already has come up in CIO talks, and there is every reason to believe it will come up elsewhere."

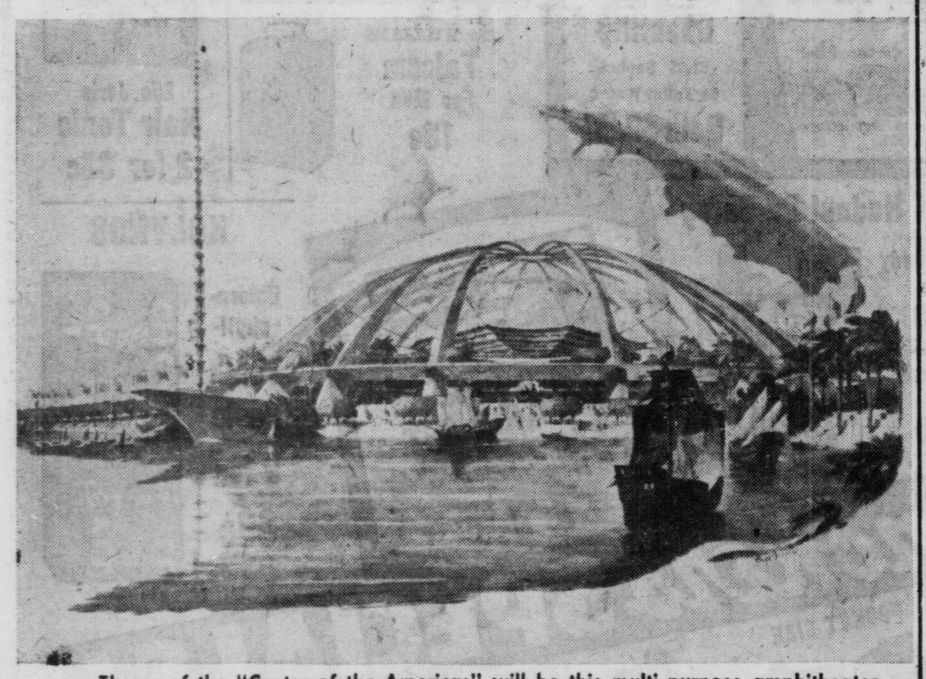
FAIR OF THE FUTURE



Theme of the "Center of the Americas" will be this multi-purpose amphitheater.

PLANS ARE PERCOLATING in Miami Beach, Fla., for a spacious Inter-American Fair to promote understanding and increased trade between North and South America. This project will be set on an 1,800-acre plot which will be turned into a wonderland. There will be exhibits of products, inventions and local cultures. Three attractions will be an amusement park, picnic center and an amphitheater. Motorists will be glad to learn they can see the fair without getting out of their cars. The center is designed so motorists can drive, in narrowing circles, around the entire project. In fact, the elevated roads will run through some buildings. A monorail-type transportation system will take visitors through the grounds as well as connecting canals for boat travel. An estimated 15 million persons are expected the first year.

This is artist's idea of the 1,800-acre project. Note canal system and road network.

Engineer Ray Mullins keeps a friendly eye on them so they don't "drive" too fast.

NEW SCHOOL DEDICATED — Cleveland Industrialist Cyrus Eaton is surrounded by some 200 students who attended the dedication of their new school at Northfield, Ohio. It is named after Eaton's oldest daughter, who died in 1949.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

A spectre haunts America. It's the spectre of automation. It is stirring fear in the heart and mind of America's workingman — the fear of being replaced by a machine.

Victor Riesel

Walter Reuther sees it as a dark dangerous shadow over the land Businessmen have begun calling it "Walter Reuther's bogeyman."

In New York this week the war over automation really be Reuther told an audience of businessmen, many of them unfriendly to the redhead, that the "second industrial revolution" has already been touched off by this spectre.

Reuther spoke of "an electrical brain (which) has replaced 500 clerical workers" and of a machine which "makes an engine block in less than 15 minutes without a single human hand touching that engine block."

He could have mentioned too the Cross Co. of his home city of Detroit, which is putting together a two million dollar machine tool as long as a football field. The "tool" will perform 540 mechanical operations and turn out engine blocks at the rate of 100 an hour.

THERE IS a British auto firm which claims that its push-button technique is so perfected that one girl can regulate the entire output of an assembly plant producing two motors a minute.

And there is an automatic tool at the Tompson Products Co. in Cleveland which is bigger than a house. It whips out the housing for a jet rubine in 10 minutes.

As for a "brain" doing the work of clerical help, American Airlines has an electronic device called Reservisor. Its mechanical memory retains a record of all seats available on 1,000 air flights. At the push of a button, Reservisor discloses which of thes e flights have vacancies — and on what date!

Our Air Force has developed a transoceanic "brain" which sends data at the rate of 1,000 characters a minute from punched cards in Casablanca to Washington — where it punches new cards to be read in the Pentagon.

Last March a new company named Multra Corp. developed a machine — called, oddly enough, Multra — which can be tooled and retooled to make a virtually unlimited variety of products. The same tool!

Not so long ago, Anaconda Wire and Cable of Great Falls, Mont., bought a 275-ton all-automatic wire-rolling mill which was so huge it had to be delivered in 1,920 crates on 15 freight cars.

A NEW KIND of assembly line, geared to produce 1,000 radios a day, is replacing one now run by 200 workers. The new line can be handled by two girls. A prominent Harvard economist has stated that all the plants built in 1950 could be made automatic — and their hundreds of thousands of workers reduced sharply — for 600 million dollars.

Not too long ago, the father of the electric brain and the science of Cybernetics, Norbert Wiener, told me at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology that he could build a machine so automatic that it could reproduce itself if fed the basic ore. This would take a billion dollars, but it could be done.

But, said the National Assn. of Manufacturers this week, automation is not a spectre to fear. It is actually "the worker's best friend." Thus the NAM struck back at Walter Reuther.

Automation will not mean "workerless factories" — not now, nor in the future — said the NAM. Automation will make jobs, not kill them.

To back up its claims, the NAM said that General Motors, now revealing its products of today and tomorrow, has taken on 200,000 more workers in the past few years — at the same time that it has taken on new automatic equipment.

THE NAM QUOTES the Ford Co. as saying, "Automation at Ford conserves manpower. It saves men from many burudens and hazards and gives them jobs which utilize their brain power more effectively.

The NAM even quotes the late and beloved Phil Murray as saying that technological gain has never thrown people out of work.

Instead of killing jobs, says the NAM — in what is basically, though not directly, a blast at Reuther — automation is creating new multi-million dollar industries. Factory sales of electronic brains which process data were exactly nil in 1940. Today they are above 25 million dollars. By 1960 they are expected to reach 500 million dollars.

Automatic factory machine sales were 3 million dollars in 1940. By 1953 they hit 65 million. By 1960, sales are expected to reach 160 million.

Time will tell if the human brain is greater than the elctronic brain — and if the automation is a curse or blessing. This will be a great issue on the labor front this year.

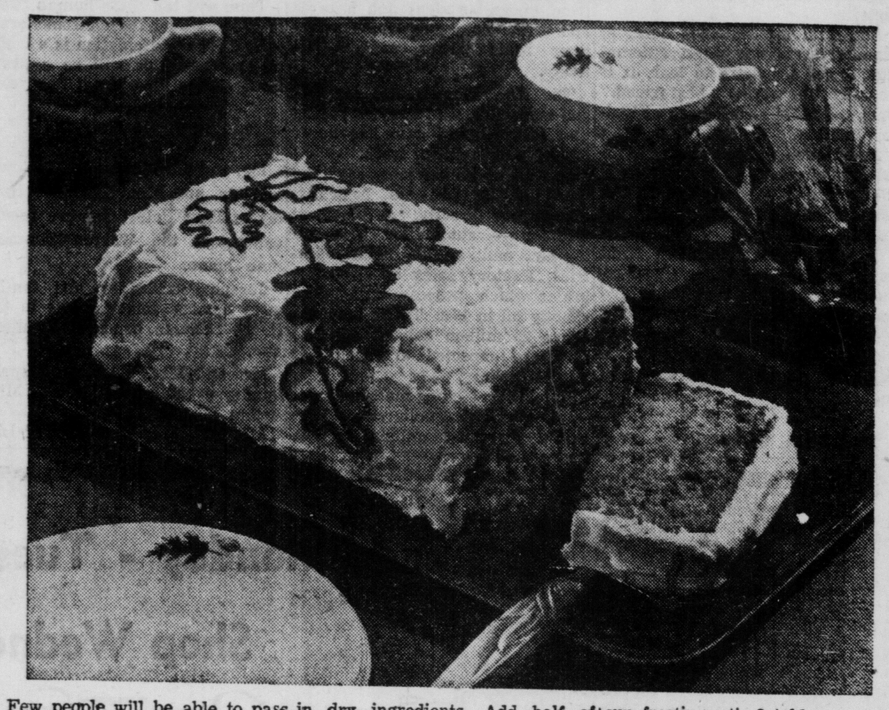
LUNCHEON PLATE

4 slices bread! butter, or margarine
½ cup grated cheddar cheese (firmly packed)
1 canned pimiento (finely diced)
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
¼ cup roasted and diced buttered almonds or blanched toasted silvered almonds
4 pears
seedless grapes

Toast bread lightly; spread one side of each slice with butter. Mix cheese, pimiento, mayonnaise and almonds together; spread over buttered side of toast. Broil slowly until bubbly—about 3 minutes. Serve each toast slice with a fresh pear (cored and cut in half) and garnished with seedless grapes.

Eat Spicy Cake Plain Or Frosted



Few people will be able to pass up this rich, moist cake. Made with applesauce, spices, raisins and nuts, it is a perfect ending for a meal on a cool day.

It's delicious served unfrosted, but for a party or special dinner, coat it with a lemon butter frosting and decorated it with leaves.

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
½ cup vegetable shortening
¾ cup thick sweetened applesauce
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup cut raisins
½ cup chopped nuts

Into sifter, measure sifted flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, soda and spices. Into mixing bowl place shortening; stir just to soften. Sift in dry ingredients. Add half of the applesauce 2 eggs, and vanilla.

Mix until all flour is dampened. Then beat 2 minutes at a low speed of electric mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Add remaining applesauce, raisins and nuts and beat 1 minute longer in mixer, or 150 strokes by hand.

Woman In Short Nightie Doesn't Want Rescued

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Mrs. Pearl McKersie, 41, refused to be rescued from her second-floor, smoke-filled bedroom after firemen raised a ladder to the window.

Flames were raging in the living room of the apartment, but Mrs. McKersie was wearing a shorty nightie and she wasn't going to be embarrassed by climbing down the ladder.

Firemen finally battered down the front door, quelled the blaze and led Mrs. McKersie, swathed in blankets, down the stairs.

About 8 per cent of men and 1 per cent of women are color blind.

Make Tiny Individual Meat Loaves

There's nothing like a little change now and then, in the preparation of food, to give a lift to your family's appetites.

These little individual meat loaves will do just that.

Mix applesauce, either fresh or canned, through the beef and pork and you'll come up with these juicy, tangy loaves. Bake them in muffin pans so that they will be uniform in size.

½ cup minced onion
1 pound ground beef, chuck
½ pound ground lean pork
1½ teaspoons sage
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups apple sauce
1 cup dry bread crumbs

Combine onion, beef, pork, sage, Worcestershire sauce and salt; mix well. Add apple sauce and crumbs; mix well. Pack into large greased muffin pans. Bake in moderate oven. 350 F., 30-40 minutes. Yields 6 servings. Serve with seasoned rice, carrots and peas.

Glazed Cherry Valentine Cake
(Makes 1 heart-shaped layer cake)

One 1-pound, 4-ounce package white cake mix
¼ cup chopped filberts
¼ cup chopped maraschino cherries well drained (about 10 cherries)

1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 6-ounce jars maraschino cherries, drained and cut in half

pepper
paprika

Use any small fresh fish available. Have dealer clean fish and cut away fins and part of tail, but do not have head or bones removed. Cut 4 heart-shaped pieces of foil or parchment paper big enough to accommodate each fish. (Use a double thickness of regular household foil or one thickness of double-duty foil.)

Place a fish on one side of heart-shaped foil or paper, with head at rounded end and tail toward point. Spread each fish with ½ tablespoon soft butter and 1 teaspoon of brown sauce. Peel onion and slice into paper-thin rounds; arrange on top of fish.

Dot onion with remaining butter; sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Fold the other side of foil or paper over fish so edges meet; beginning with top edge of heart crimp edges together by folding and rolling small sections to get a tight seal.

Place on lare baking sheet and bake in hot (425 degrees) oven 20 minutes; if parchment paper is used it should be puffed and browned at the edges. Serve packages unopened. Makes 4 servings.

The bottled sauce called for in this recipe is the sweet-and-sour variety that is a blend of fruits, vegetables and spices.

BAKED CORN AND EGGS

One 8-ounce can cream-style corn
¼ cup finely diced green pepper
2 eggs
salt and pepper
grated cheddar cheese

Turn the corn into 2 individual shallow baking dishes. Mix 2 tablespoons of the diced green pepper into each portion of corn. Break an egg into each dish; sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Sprinkle eggs with cheese, using 3 or 4 tablespoons for each egg. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 14 minutes; remove from oven and let stand 5 minutes or so, then serve at once. Makes 2 servings.

DOUBLE-CORN MUFFINS

1 egg
one 7-ounce can whole kernel corn milk
one 12-ounce package corn muffin mix.

Beat egg enough to combine yolk and white. Drain liquid from corn into a measure; add enough milk to make 1 cup. Add milk mixture to egg and beat enough to combine. Add corn muffin mix and stir until dry ingredients are well moistened; batter will be lumpy. Stir in drained corn lightly. Bake in muffin pans, filling cups one-half full, according to baking directions on package. If muffin pan cups holding about ½ cup each are used, recipe will make 11 muffins.

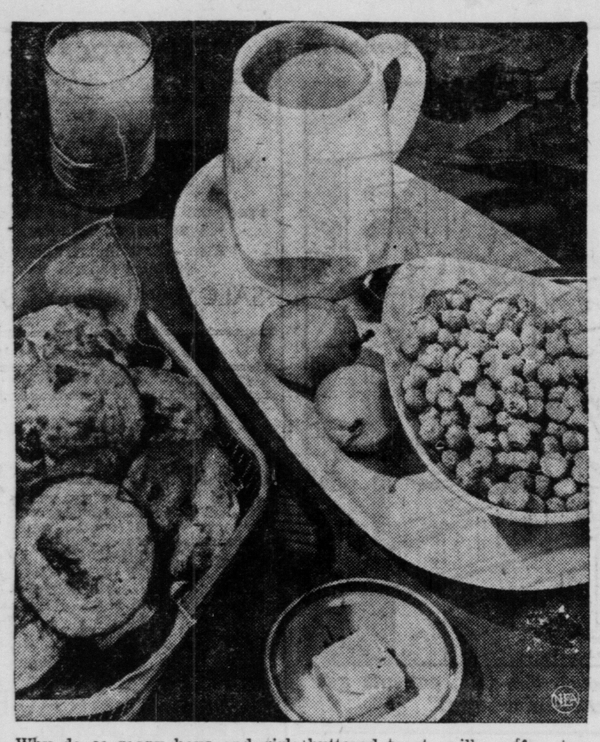
Poor Breakfast Endangers Day



Why do so many boys and girls of school age bypass an adequate breakfast? Reasons usually given by students between 12 and 18 are: Not enough time; no breakfast ready; no one to eat with.

Every serious study by educators and nutritionists proves that students who skimp on the first meal of the day often are careless and inattentive during the late morning hours.

Getting children to eat 1-3 to ¼ of their daily food needs before setting out to school is sharply stressed as a health and educational "must" for parents and educators alike.

The basic breakfast pattern, generally accepted nationally, is based on five low-cost foods available everywhere. They are fruit, cereal with milk, bread, butter or margarine, and milk to drink. Eggs, bacon, meat or other protein foods can be added. But the basic pattern as given above, is nutritionally adequate and provides the 1-3 to ¼ of the day's total nutritional needs.

Arranging the child's schedule so that he gets enough time to eat an adequate breakfast, having it ready for him, or teaching older children how to prepare it for themselves, need not be a great household chore.

The basic breakfast can easily be prepared in 10 minutes. It may not always be possible for the family to breakfast together. However, reports show that generally children who eat breakfast with the family eat better.

Suggested family menus for breakfasts that take only 10 minutes to prepare:

1. Chilled tomato juice, farina with dates, milk, brown sugar, toasted nut bread, butter or margarine, milk, coffee, tea.
2. Sliced peaches on corn soya shreds, milk, soft-cooked eggs hot buttered toast, milk, coffee, tea.
3. Fruit juice raisin bran flakes milk sweet rolls, butter or margarine milk, coffee, tea.
4. Orange juice, hot wholewheat cereal with maple syrup or molasses, toasted cinnamon swirl bread, with butter or margarine, milk, coffee, tea.

Expert Gives Advice On Making Omelets

Madame Romaine de Lyon is France's gift to American egg producers. She runs the only restaurant in the United States where nothing but egg main dishes are served. She has 350 omelets on her menu.

We had lunch in her squeeze-in restaurant at 133 East 56th St. in New York City. It seats only 22 guests, most of them socialites and screen and stage celebrities. Madame, herself, does all the cooking and a young woman from Alsace-Lorraine the serving. The fame of her omelets has spread over the civilized world.

Right now we have the biggest crop of midwinter eggs on record and prices are lowest in many years. With that favorable situation in mind — so far as the housewife is concerned, not the producer — we asked Madame Romaine to tell us about her omelet making.

She uses 3 eggs for each individual omelet. Break eggs in a bowl and stir with fork until egg whites and yolks are well mixed. But do not beat fluffy as though making a souffle. Add salt and pepper and 1 teaspoon of cold water for each three eggs.

Melt a heaping tablespoon of sweet butter or margarine in a saucepan. Pour in eggs. Cook over moderate hot fire, holding pan in hand a little away from heat. With spatula or fork, as eggs begin to cook around the edges of the pan, push the done part away from the edge to permit the uncooked part to flow against the edge. Cook only until the bottom is slighly browned and the top still moist. Never overcook your omelet — that's her advice.

When done, fold over in pan and serve at once on hot plate. If you use filling, add it just before turning the omelet.

Madame Romaine prepared a special "midwinter omelet" for us, filled with chicken pieces which had been cooked in wine and then sprinkled with brandy, nuts, sliced apples, and tiny pieces of toasted French bread. With it she served a delicate mixed green salad with her own subtle dressing, brioche, French pastry and coffee.

One of her most famous omelets is filled with chicken cooked in wine, truffles, pate de fois gras, and served with a sauce of cream, brandy and Madeira wine.

So be inspired by this talented French woman and take advantage of our American bumper crop of low-cost eggs.

BEEF STROGANOFF

1 pound beef sirloin
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup thin onion strips
one 6-ounce can broiled whole mushrooms
2 tablespoons tomato paste
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ to ½ teaspoon dry coarsely crumbled oregano
3 tablespoons flour
¾ cup buttermilk
2 tablespoons cooking sherry
salt
pepper.

Slice beef very thin and cut in strips; there should be 2 cups. Melt butter in 10-inch skillet; add onions. Remove mushrooms from can with spoon and add. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring often, until onion is lightly browned. Add meat and toss with long-handled fork until meat loses its red color.

Add tomato paste, mustard, oregano and flour to liquid in mushroom can; stir until there are no flour lumps. Add to skillet with buttermilk; stir constantly until sauce thickens and bubbles. Stir in sherry, salt and pepper to taste. Makes 4 servings.

Eggs Plentiful In February

Eggs are one of our best protein foods. They are an essential part of any balanced diet. So it's big family news today that high-quality eggs will be in big supply during February. That means prices should be correspondingly low.

Big turkeys, 18 pounds and over, will also be plentiful. So will dairy products because this is the season when cows begin to produce more milk. Milk, of course, is an essential food. So let's use more of it — especially now that it is so plentiful.

If you like to bake with lard, it's good news for you that lard is abundant, too.

Citrus fruit, fresh and processed oranges and grapefruit will be abundant and so will raisins.

California and Arizona will send huge supplies of crisp head or iceberg-type lettuce to market. Florida and Texas have large crops, also.

If you like carrots, and understand what a rich source of essential vitamin A they are, February will be a good month in your nutritional calendar. Texas, Arizona and California are producing great crops of carrots and sending most of them to market in transparent film bags minus their green tops. This keeps them fresh longer.

From New Hampshire Extension Service comes this recipe for glorified scrambled eggs.

Scrambled Eggs With Banana and Bacon
(Serves 6)

Six bananas
6 tablespoons table fat, melted
salt to taste
12 strips grilled bacon

Peel bananas and cut lengthwise into halves. Brush or coat completely with table fat and sprinkle lightly with salt. Place halves, cut side down, in well-greased pan. Broil about 4 inches from heat 2 to 3 minutes. Turn.

Broil 3 to 4 minutes until browned and tender, easily pierced with fork. For each serving, arrange 2 banana halves, cut sides up, side by side on plate. Place grilled bacon strip on top of each half. Serve with scrambled eggs.

STRAWBERRY TRIFLE

4 lady fingers
¼ cup crushed pineapple
2 cups milk
1 package strawberry rennet powder
¼ cup cream (whipped and sweetened).

Split lady fingers lengthwise; place 2 halves in each of four dessert glasses. Put spoonful of well-drained pineapple in each glass. Warm milk slowly until lukewarm, stirring constanty; test a drop on the inside of your wrist often. When it feels comfortably warm (110 degrees), not hot, remove at once from heat.

Stir in entire contents of package of rennet powder at one time. Mix until powder is dissolved—not over 1 minute. Pour at once, while still liquid, into dessert glasses. Do not disturb while milk sets. —about 10 minutes. Chill. Just before serving, garnish glase with whipped cream.

APPLE CRANBERRY CRISP

4 medium - sized (about 1 1-3 pounds) apples
one 1 pound can whole cranberry sauce
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup uncooked quick rolled oats
½ cup flour
1 cup dark brown sugar (firmly packed)
½ cup butter or margarine

Peel, core and quarter apples, slice thin; there should be 4 cups. Arrange apples in buttered baking dish (about 10 by 6 by 2 inches). Spoon cranberry sauce over sliced apples; sprinkle with cinnamon. Stir rolled oats, flour and brown sugar together; cut in butter until evenly mixed and crumbly. Sprinkle over cranberry layer. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until apples are cooked through and top is lightly browned—about 40 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings. Serve with cream if desired.

CLERK TEACHES BOSS

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—While the boss was attending a meeting of local grocers on how to thwart robberies and burglaries, somebody treid to hold up his store last night. But the clerk, 19-year-old Garry Borens, pulled a gun from a counter drawer and chased the bandits out of the place.

Your Health

By DR. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Lung Ventilation

Included in his letter asking for a discussion of emphysema Mr. S. writes "I have had chronic emphysema for about one year. I am practically confined to my room and it is only with difficulty that I can stand up or walk because to do so or to make any effort makes the breathing harder.

Dr. Jordan

This correspondent is exceptionally unfortunate. Although it is true that the condition of the lungs known as emphysema may cause shortness of breath; this is usually not as severe as in Mr. S's case and some people apparently have emphysema for years without any symptoms at all. The reason this latter statement can be made is that studies after death have shown emphysema in about one person in twenty although far fewer than this number show any signs of the condition during life.

Emphysema is basically a loss of elasticity of the tissues of the lung, which means that all the air is not emptied out when a person exhales. Thus, if large portions of the lungs are involved a person may not get enough air from breathing and develop shortness of breath, especially when the need for air is increased by exercise.

There are many conditions which can lead to this loss of elasticity and dilation of the breathing cells. Any chronic infection of the lungs, chronic asthma, or a serious chest deformity, can bring on emphysema comparatively early in life, although there is perhaps a tendency in all of us to have less elasticity in the lung tissues as we grow older.

It was formerly thought that glass blowers and musicians who play wind instruments were particularly liable to develop emphysema, but apparently this is not true.

There are, however, occupatoinal hazards which do increase the chances of developing emphysema, such as being exposed to certain kinds of poisonous dusts, or occupations which lead to infection of the lungs.

One of the important objects of treatment is to correct or try to prevent infections or allergy, which making the condition worse. Acute respiratory infections should be treated promptly with bed rest and often with penicillin or one of its relatives.

Drugs can be used to help improve the ventilation of the lungs, and many patients with chronic emphysema are enormously helped if they can spend the colder months in a mild climate. Emphysema is bad enough alone and may lead to other complications. It should be identified as early as possible and seems appropriate.
